

Pembroke College

How to find us

GOOGLE MAPS

Pembroke College is located on Pembroke Square, just off St Aldates in central Oxford. The Sir Geoffrey Arthur Building is a 10 minute walk from the College, on the banks of the Thames.

By Air

From London Heathrow or Gatwick, The Airline coach goes directly to Oxford. From London Stansted, National Express runs to Oxford via Luton Airport. All of the above services terminate at Gloucester Green bus station; the College is then a 5-10 minute walk. There are direct train and bus services from Birmingham International Airport to Oxford.

By Rail

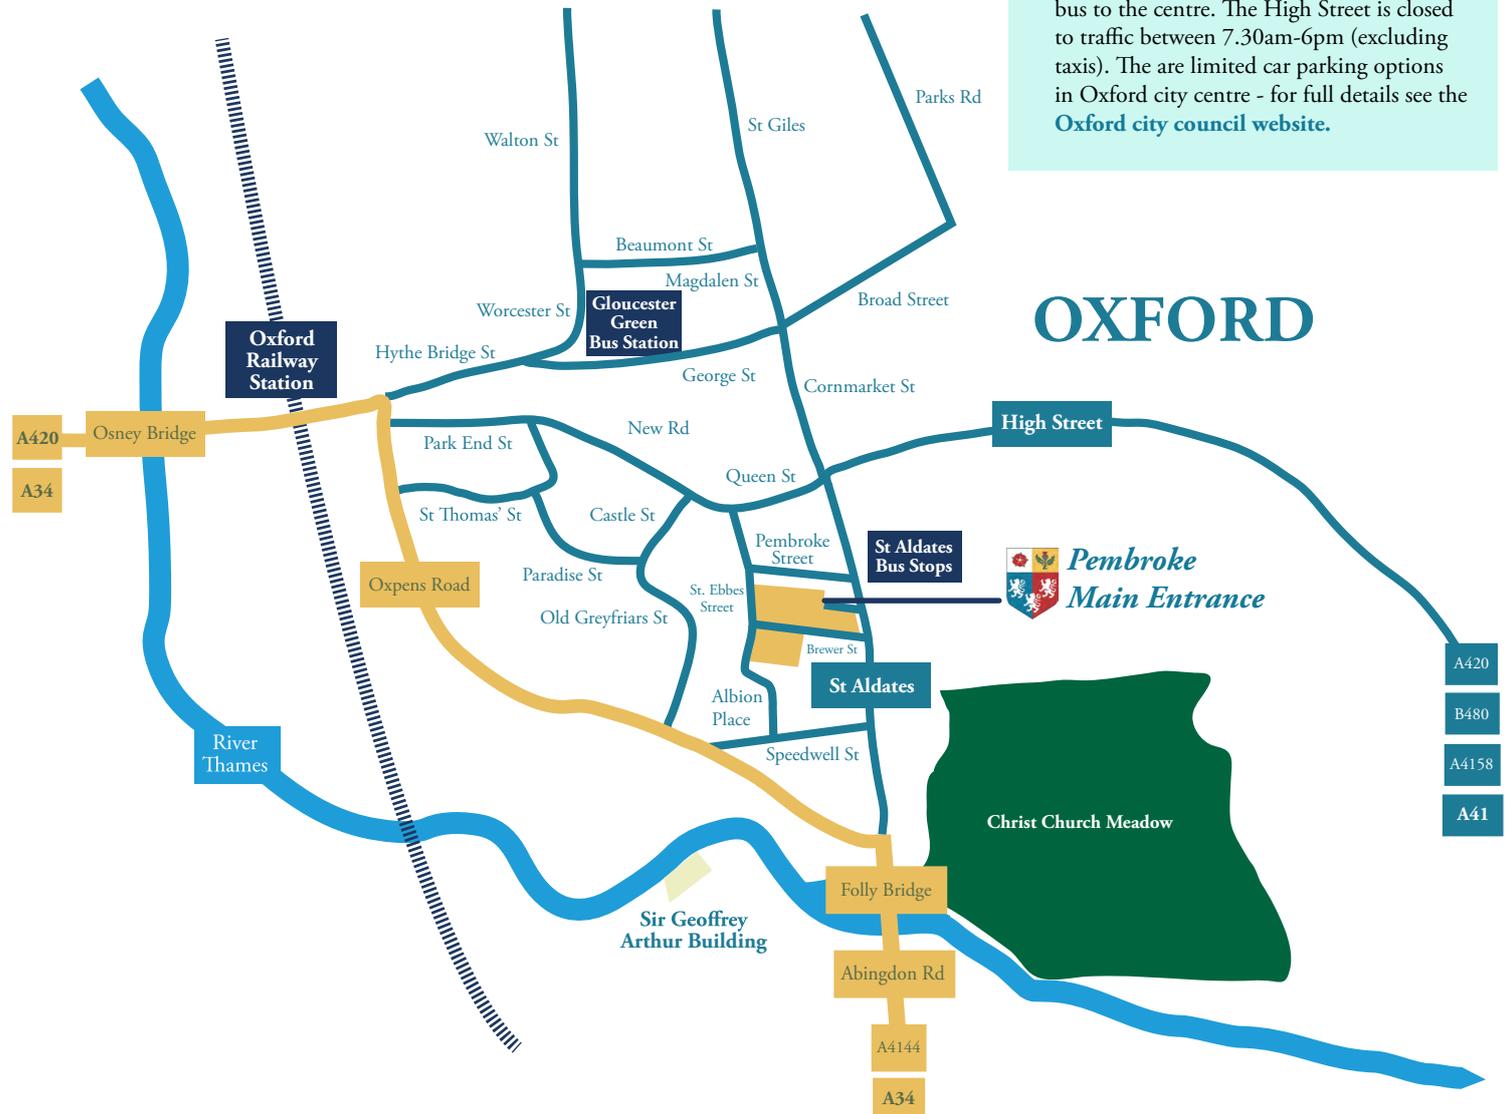

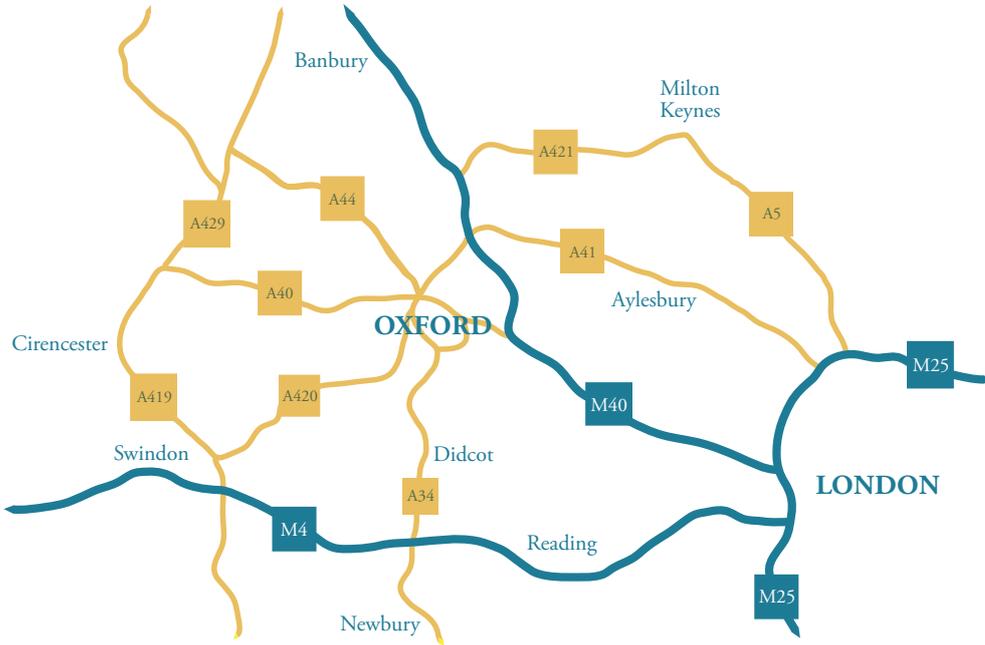

For information on train times and operators, please consult the National Rail website. From Oxford Station it is a 10 minute walk to Pembroke College. There is a good taxi service from the station, and numerous buses go to St Aldates (the road closest to the college).

By Coach/Bus

There are excellent and frequent coach services (the Oxford Tube, and the X90) from central London to Oxford. The Oxford Tube runs 24 hours a day, and stops outside St Aldates when coming from London. Pembroke College is just across the street.

By Car

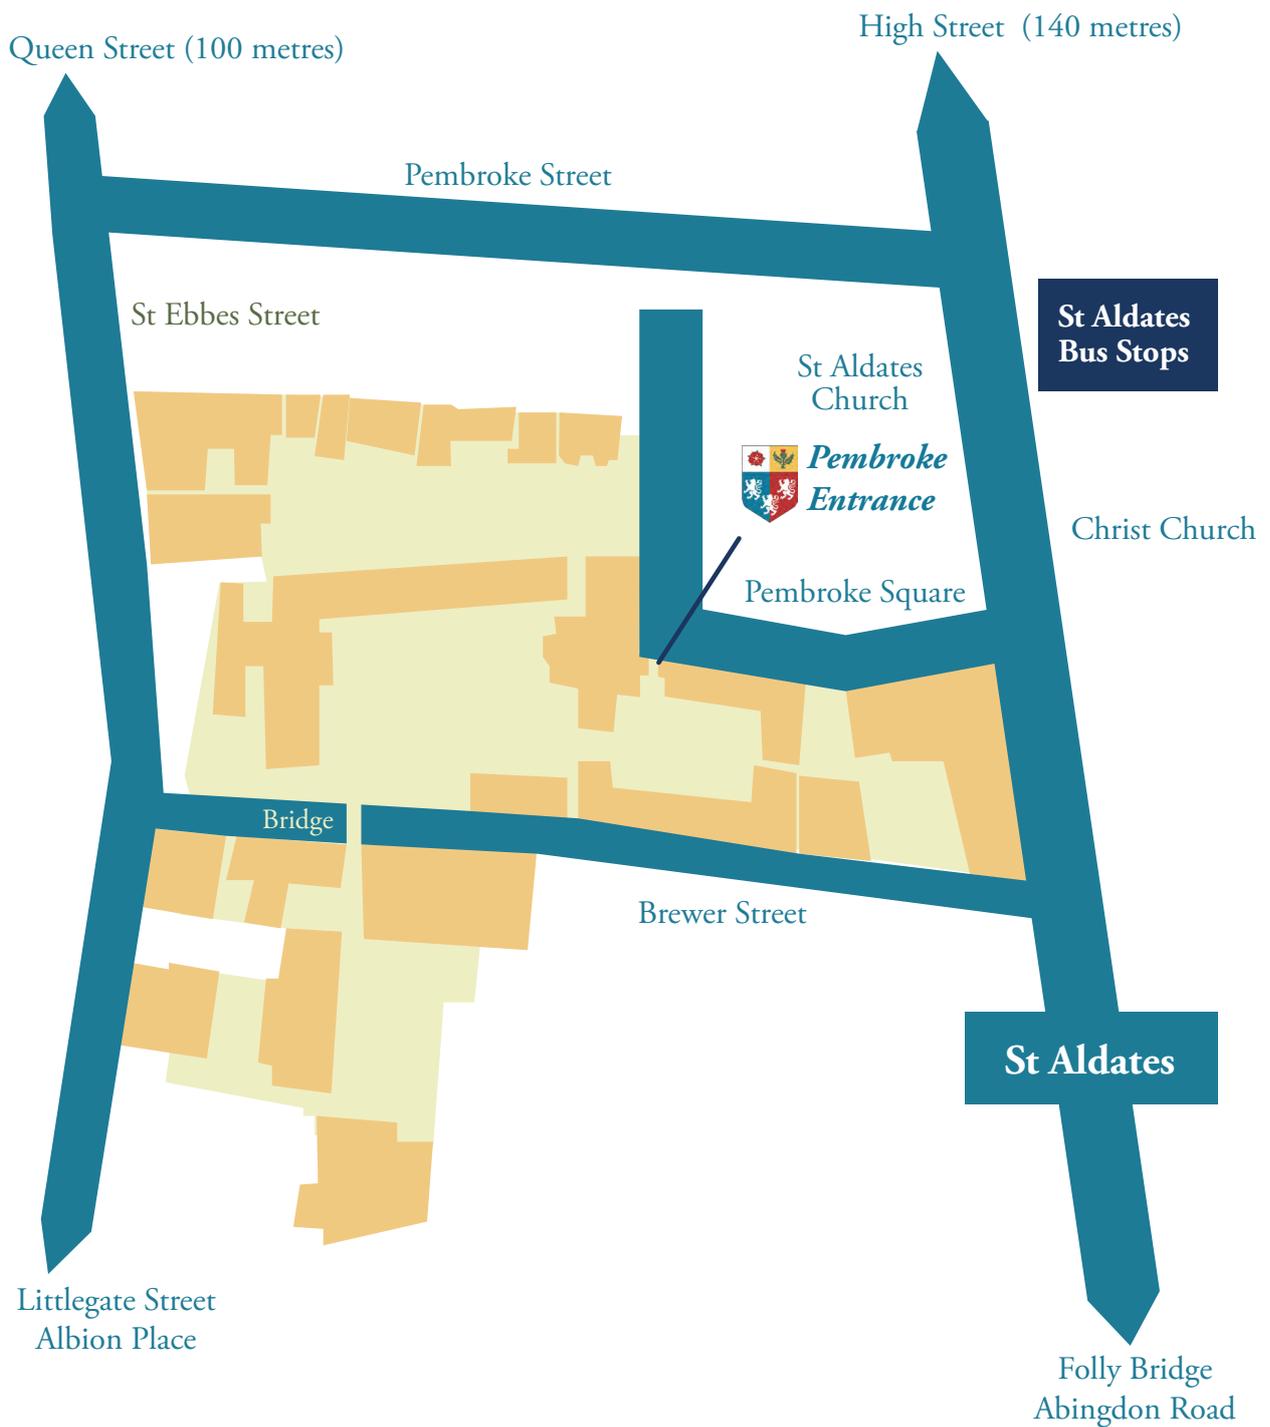

Many of Oxford's streets are now closed to traffic, and we recommend using the Park and Ride car parks, located on the outskirts of the city, which are well connected by bus to the centre. The High Street is closed to traffic between 7.30am-6pm (excluding taxis). There are limited car parking options in Oxford city centre - for full details see the Oxford city council website.
